Thus you see the book from which we object at this time is to clear up the false charges are about to quote was approved and preferred against James Buchanan, our venerable candi- above all others by Mr. Clay himself. And on date for the highest position in the gift of the page 114 of this book we find the following lanworld. Evidently the object of the article in guage in regard to the point at issue: the "Commonwealth" was intended to prejudice the numerous friends of Mr. Clay in Kentucky against Mr. Buchanan. The Know Nothing party arc fully persuaded that it will require a powerful effort to carry this State for Fillmore; and sition. they are, therefore, resolved to resort to every we have alluded. For if Democracy triumphs the of the charge. Frankfort "clique" must forever ccase to wear the paraphernalia of office which they have abused for so long a time. This they know, and this they fear. But as far as we are concerned, we are determined that if James Buchanan is to be defeated in Kentucky, it shall be done by fair and honora. ble means. If truth condemns onr candidate, let him sink. His history is before the world. It speaks for itself, and most eloquently does it pronounce him a STATESMAN AND A PATRIOT. calumny when they are directed at him by unscrupulous enemies. We know that he will be passued with blood-hound ferocity. But we hope we will be able to keep the dogs at hay till James Buchanan shall be proclaimed President of the United States.

The proposition which called forth the lengthy article in the "Commonwealth" is stated as fol-

"Was James Buchanan the author of that slan-

We think we have already proved to the satisfaction of all reasonable men that James Buchanan was not the author of the charge.

In 1824 Andrew Jackson, John Q. Adams, William H. Crawford, Henry Clay and John C. Calhonn were candidates for the Presidency. It was ascertained about the close of the year 1824, that the electoral college had returned to the House the names of the three first mentioned Philadelphia, "Die Freie Presse," as having come above, to choose from the three a President. Mr. Clay was then Speaker of the House, and had a vote in the choice of a President. It was thought well claim a re-action in public opinion on acby many that Mr. Clay ought and would vo efor Gen Jackson. The Legislature of Kentucky had faith. The Doylestown Democrat cays, that passed resolutions instructing him so to do. But Mr. Clay kept silent, and therefore gave cause for various surmises as to how he would cast his vote when the time should arrive.

The election came on at length, and Mr. Clay cast his vote and influence for Mr. Adams. Af ter Mr. Adams had been duly inaugurated and had appointed Mr. Clay his Secretary of State. a report was put in circulation to the effect that General Jackson had said that overtures had been made to him through the friends of Mr. Clay, during the pendency of the Presidential election in the House, to the effect that if he (Jackson) had offered to Mr. C. the Secretaryship, he (Clay would have voted for Jackson.

The proofs for the foundation for this charge being called for by Mr. Clay, Gen. Jackson stated Nothing Lodge at New Castle. that such an impression bad been made on his mind from a conversation he had held with Mr. James Buchanan. Mr. Buchanan immediately stepped forward, and made the following candid statement, which will convince any reasonable man that the impression made on the mind of Gen. Jackson was never in tended to be made by Mr. Buchanan. Read it fallow-citizens, and we know in the honesty of your hearts you will acquit our noble candidate:

"About the 20th of December, 1824, I called upon Gen. Jackson. After the company had left him by which I found him surrounded, he asked me to take a walk with him; and whilst we were walking together upon the street I introduced the subject. I told him I wished to ask him a question in relation to the presidential election; that I knew he was unwilling to couverse apon the subject; that therefore if he deem-ed the question improper, he might refuse to give it an answer. That my only motive in asking it was friendship for him and I trusted he would excuse me for thus introducing a subject about which I knew he wished to be silent.

"I then stated to him there was a report in circalation that he had determined he would appoint Mr. Adams Secretary of State in case he were elected president, and that I wished to ascertain of him whether he had ever intimated such an intention. That he must perceive at once how injurious to his election such a report That no doubt there were several able and ambitious men in the country, among whom I thought Mr. Clay might he included, who were aspiring to that office; and if it were believed he had already determined to appoint day the bell of the Conrt House announced the his chief competitor, it might have a most unhap-py effect upon their exertions, and those of their thought that this report should be promptly con- ed hy probably seventy-five or more Know-Nothtradicted under his own authority.

"I mentioned, it had already prohably done him some injury, and proceeded to relate to him the substance of the conversation which I had ken—all the questions were decided by the Knowheld with Mr. Markley. I do not remember Nothings. Look out for a rich contest. The whether I mentioned his name or merely described hall has fairly opened. The Fillmorites here him as a friend of Mr. Clay.

"I called upon Jackson, on the occasion which I have mentioned, solely as his friend, upon my individual responsibility, and not as the agent to Buchanan. of Mr. Clay or any other person.

"When the editor of the United States Telegraph, on the 12th of October last, asked me, hy letter, for information on this subject. I prompt-ly informed him on the 18th of that month, that I had no authority from Mr. Clay or his friends to propose any terms to Gen. Jackson in relation to their votes, nor did I ever make any such proposition.

The Life of Henry Clay, by Geo. D. Prentice, was prepared at Lexington in 1830, about four years after the difficulty alluded to. The book, after it had been prepared by Mr. P., was examined and endorsed by Mr. Clay himself. And on page 237 of this identical hook, we find the following vindication of Mr. Buchapan:

" * * * Mr. Buchanan, however, was an honorable man, and hesitated not to eay, publicly, that he had never made to General Jackson the overtures in question, or any that bore the least resemblance to them."

This charge would never have been hunted up against Mr. Buchanan had he not been a candidate for the Presidency. But the Know-Nothing organs must now say say something against him; and if they can't find truth to condemn him, they scruple not to manufacture lies and publish them to the world. But, gentlemen of the K. N. fraternity, allow us to say that it is onr candid belief that if the signs of the times indicate anything at all, it is that salt won't save your party in November. Buchanan and Breck-But we are determined to blunt the shafts of inridge will certainly be elected, K. N. lies and slanders to the contrary notwithstanding.

That amazing young Know Nothing "orator," Kinney, opened the canvass in the Second District on Saturday last, with a speech at Lewis- Reaping. port. His audience were all Know Nothings except three or four. Maj. Williams, a talented and highly respectable old line Whig, was present to answer him, but directly Kinney had concluded, every Know Nothing left the house!

It was decided last winter by the Know Nothabers of the Legislature, in the case of Maj. Helm, and by the lodges in this city, this Spring, in the case of Judge Pirtle, that an old line Whig is inelegible to office.

It seems, now, according to this new phrase of the "order." that an old line Whig is unworthy of the liberty of speech!

The Tribune might as count of its own opposition to the Democratic "there is not one Democratic paper within our knowledge, either East, West, North, or South, English or German, that does not fling the hanner of Buchanan, Breckinridge and Democracy to the breeze, and is doing gallant service under its graceful folds."

Hon. Sam. Caruthers, the famous "politial widower," made a speech at a recent Buchanan ratification in Washington, in which he declared himself to be an old line Whig, but a supporter of Buchanan, and Breckinridge. He said he had seen 'Sam' all over, and thought him something of a "woolly horse."

COMING INTO LINE-MARCHING TO THE MUSIC OF THE UNION.—Huhhard, editor of the Logan Gazette, published at Bellefontaine, O., has hoisted chanan flag. The Gazette has always been an old line Whig paper. The editor, however, is a national man, and cannot shake off the conviction that he will have to vote for the only National man named for the Presidency—the non-nee of the National Democratic Convention.— Mr. Hubbard says there are at least five hundred old line Whigs in Logan county who will vote for Buchanan. He has seen and conversed with scores of them. He says old Logan is safe for Buchanan. There is no use attempting to stop Buchanan. There is no as Buchanan. There is no as Buchanan. The relations between this country and England were the prominent topic of discussion. The dismissal of Mr. Crampton and the Consuls had they demand a victim to their resentment in the dismissal of Mr. Dallas. That, however, is not the uniform tone of the London press. There existed indications of a movement both in Parliament and the country to apply a strong pressure to the government to prevent the adoption of retaliatory measures. Addresses were published, from the Liverpool Financial Reform Association to "the percial and Industrial classes" of this country, and from "the citizens of Manchester to the tion of our citizens to restrain this governmen from action partaking of a hostile character, and promising in return to employ a like influence to act upon their own. In Parliament, Ministers were questioned in respect to their intentions, and replied that they had not determined what course to advise her Majesty to pursue. But Lord Palmerston gave full emphasis to the conciliatory character of Mr. Marcy's despatch, declaring that it accepted the explanations tendered, as satisfactory in regard to the conduct of the British government, and that the objections to continued tercourse with Mr. Crampton and the Consuls related entirely to their personal disqualifications. HANDONFIELD, N. J. April 20. I was attacked by a severe pain in the side, in the region of the liver. I suffered intensely through the whole winter. During all this time I was confined to my house, had a violent cough, raised much bloody matter, and was supposed by myself and others to be in the last stages of Consumption. The February following when apparently life was at a close, I procured a botof Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. As soon as I commenced its use, I began to grow better. The soreness of my side grew less, the cough gradually left me, the profuse expectoration and spitting of blood ceased, and my general health became by degress restored. I was soon enabled to resume my trade, that of a carpenter, which have continued without interruption. I will further remark that this remarkable cure was effected by only three bottles of the Balsam. Truly vonrs, THOMAS COZZENS.

present a constitution to Congress, and therefore be admitted as a State. New York, June 30. The North America has arrived at Quebec with
